Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9			Why changes satisfy Soundness												Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations. 'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9	Why changes satisfy Soundness Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan
Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9			Why changes satisfy Soundness												Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations. 'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

2	3	Representation text The proposals indicate that the quarry will be extended within 160 meters (sic) of the nearest residential property and 165 meters (sic) of Cefn Primary school. I am deeply concerned about the blasting at the quarry and how it may compromise the structural integrity of our local school and homes.
4	5	Changes sought RNAText The Glyncoch Community partnership wish to develop this area of land for pathways to link Glyncoch with Loops and Links paths as well as having a more pleasant walking route to Pontypridd town centre. The proposals would also give us a link to the out door classrooms in the woodland adjacent to Graigwen. These proposals are much more consistent both with the meets (sic) of the Glyncoch community and our aspirations to be a healthy active community and a highly educated community that cares about our local environment.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9	Why changes satisfy Soundness Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan
Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9			Why changes satisfy Soundness												Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations. 'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9	Why changes satisfy Soundness Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan
Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9	Why changes satisfy Soundness Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan
Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations. 'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

20	9	Why changes satisfy Soundness Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan
Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9	Why changes satisfy Soundness Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan
Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text	Soundness Tests
1 2	Issue Summary	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

2	3	Representation text The proposals indicate that the quarry will be extended within 160 meters (sic) of the nearest residential property and 165 meters (sic) of Cefn Primary school. I am deeply concerned about the blasting at the quarry and how it may compromise the structural integrity of our local school and homes.
4	5	Changes sought RNAText The Glyncoch Community partnership wish to develop this area of land for pathways to link Glyncoch with Loops and Links paths as well as having a more pleasant walking route to Pontypridd town centre. The proposals would also give us a link to the out door classrooms in the woodland adjacent to Graigwen. These proposals are much more consistent both with the meets (sic) of the Glyncoch community and our aspirations to be a healthy active community and a highly educated community that cares about our local environment.

	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

2	3	Representation text The proposals indicate that the quarry will be extended within 160 meters (sic) of the nearest residential property and 165 meters (sic) of Cefn Primary school. I am deeply concerned about the blasting at the quarry and how it may compromise the structural integrity of our local school and homes.
4	5	Changes sought RNAText The Glyncoch Community partnership wish to develop this area of land for pathways to link Glyncoch with Loops and Links paths as well as having a more pleasant walking route to Pontypridd town centre. The proposals would also give us a link to the out door classrooms in the woodland adjacent to Graigwen. These proposals are much more consistent both with the meets (sic) of the Glyncoch community and our aspirations to be a healthy active community and a highly educated community that cares about our local environment.

1 2	Issue Summary	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9			Why changes satisfy Soundness												Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations. 'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

The proposals indicate that the quarry will be extended within 160 meters (sic) of the nearest residential property and 165 meters (sic) of Cefn Primary school. I am deeply concerned about the blasting at the quarry and how it may compromise the structural integrity of our local school and homes.

RNAText The Glyncoch Community partnership wish to develop this area of land for pathways to link Glyncoch with Loops and Links paths as well as having a more pleasant walking route to Pontypridd town centre. The proposals would also give us a link to the out door classrooms in the woodland adjacent to Graigwen. These proposals are much more consistent both with the meets (sic) of the Glyncoch community and our aspirations to be a healthy active community and a highly educated community that cares about our local environment.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. 20	9			Why changes satisfy Soundness												Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations. 'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought

Policy: SSA 10		Map:		Issue: Housing Allocation
Summary:

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary I object to the housing allocation
2 3	Representation text I object to the plans to build on the 1.2 hectare site situated at the top of Cefn Close.  Cefn Close is a secluded cul de sac which was built to house some 84 properties with limited vehicle access. As a resident of the close and as a parent I feel that the plans to build circa 30 "affordable homes" would dramatically change Cefn Close as it is today.  There are many families with children ranging all ages who are safe whist (SIC) they play in the cul de sac. I believe that if the plans to build these houses were to be accepted then the safety of the children would be jeopardised. Heavy traffic moving to and from the site would pose a significant threat to the children and indeed the elderly within the close.  When I purchased my home I was not advised of any plans to build additional properties in the surrounding area.  Creating an additional 30 houses in this area seems to be pointless? There is more than this number of properties less than 500 meters (SIC) away from the site of which are boarded up and currently not in use?
4 5	Changes sought I would like the site to be removed as a housing allocation
9 7	Why no previous Representation I was not aware of any plans to build housing at the top of Cefn close.  There were no obvious signs displayed.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9			Why changes satisfy Soundness												Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations. 'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

20	9			Why changes satisfy Soundness												Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations. 'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version). 'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version). The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought

2 3	Representation text The proposals indicate that the quarry will be extended within 160 meters (sic) of the nearest residential property and 165 meters (sic) of Cefn Primary school. I am deeply concerned about the blasting at the quarry and how it may compromise the structural integrity of our local school and homes.
4 5	Changes sought The Glyncoch Community partnership wish to develop this area of land for pathways to link Glyncoch with Loops and Links paths as well as having a more pleasant walking route to Pontypridd town centre. The proposals would also give us a link to the out door classrooms in the woodland adjacent to Graigwen. These proposals are much more consistent both with the meets (sic) of the Glyncoch community and our aspirations to be a healthy active community and a highly educated community that cares about our local environment.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Summary:

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary I object to the housing allocation
2 3	Representation text I object to the plans to build on the 1.2 hectare site situated at the top of Cefn Close.  Cefn Close is a secluded cul de sac which was built to house some 84 properties with limited vehicle access. As a resident of the close and as a parent I feel that the plans to build circa 30 "affordable homes" would dramatically change Cefn Close as it is today.  There are many families with children ranging all ages who are safe whist (SIC) they play in the cul de sac. I believe that if the plans to build these houses were to be accepted then the safety of the children would be jeopardised. Heavy traffic moving to and from the site would pose a significant threat to the children and indeed the elderly within the close.  When I purchased my home I was not advised of any plans to build additional properties in the surrounding area.  Creating an additional 30 houses in this area seems to be pointless? There is more than this number of properties less than 500 meters (SIC) away from the site of which are boarded up and currently not in use?
4 5	Changes sought I would like the site to be removed as a housing allocation
9 7	Why no previous Representation I was not aware of any plans to build housing at the top of Cefn close.  There were no obvious signs displayed.

4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.

20	9	Why changes satisfy Soundness Give details why the changes you propose will ensure that the Plan
Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Our proposals are much more consistent with the Wales Spatial Plan's commitment to supporting the economic development of communities without compromising environmental and social considerations.
'Our future depends on the validity of our communities as attractive places to live and work. We need to reduce inequalities between communities whilst retaining their character and distinctive ness' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp29 (Word version).
'The quality of our natural environment has an intrinsic value as a life support system, but also promotes wellbeing for living and working and contributes to our economic objectives. Safeguarding and protecting our natural and historic assets, and enhancing resilience to address the challenges of climate change, will enable us to attract people to our communities and provide the wellbeing and quality of life to encourage them to stay and preserve the foundations for the future' (WAG: Wales Spatial Plan (2008) pp38 (Word version).
The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change.
It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

The plan does not consider the Glyncoch Partnership's proposals which are focused upon enhancing the designated area of land for access to the Graigwen Nature reserve, as well as a host of projects to enhance the health and wellbeing of residents, support out door learning as well as community resilience to climate change. It is also important to point out that the settlement boundary surrounding Glyncoch does not include Cefn Primary School, whereas it does include other schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.

Item	Question	Representation Text
1 2	Issue Summary
	Objection to designation of area of land surrounding Glyncoch for extraction of minerals.
2 3	Representation text
	The expansion of Craig yr Hesg quarry will lead to further noise and disruption to the residents of Glyncoch, exacerbate air quality and threaten the structure and integrity of the primary school as well as nearby housing. The designated area for mineral extraction is just 138.75 meters (sic) from the nearest house, 160 meters (sic) from the local primary school and just 123 meters (sic) from the primary school's outdoor classroom. A large number of local residents have expressed health and safety concerns. The current fencing surrounding the quarry is faulty and with easy access for children, this would be of greater concern, should the quarry be expanded. There is also inadequate infrastructure for the transportation of minerals. The current quarrying levels have a negative impact on the quality of life of local residents. An expansion of the quarrying activity would be intolerable.
4 5	Changes sought
	To remove the designated area for mineral extraction from the site, which is adjacent to Glyncoch, allowing the quarry to expand further. For the site to be designated instead, as a community amenity, enabling residents to access the countryside through links with the nearby designated nature reserve, as well as to develop an outdoor activities and natural environmental learning zone. Alternative proposals developed by local people will facilitate economic, social and environmental regeneration and the genuinely holistic, sustainable development of the Glyncoch community as well as RCT CBC.
